FROM: Artem Atanasov, Chief Sales Officer, Centravis

Our dear clients, partners and friends,

Centravis continues its work. All equipment operates seamlessly. We have been fully supplied with water all week. And this Sunday, we are launching a system that will allow us to be completely independent of the fluctuations in water in the Dnipro River. This serves as an extra precaution to completely mitigate any future risks associated with the water supply. And from next month, this will allow us to supply more people with water, instead of solely using it for our production.

Our dedicated logistics team has been working tirelessly to ensure the secure and efficient delivery of our finished products. Additionally, our global sales offices remain open and accessible, ready to address any inquiries or requests you may have. Our Financial and Administrative Departments, along with our Customer Support teams, are fully operational and prepared to provide assistance whenever needed.

This week, our Board of Directors of the Holding met in Uzhgorod, Ukraine. Colleagues flew in from different countries around the world: the USA, Switzerland, Germany, to visit our new production and support the team. Below, I have attached our group photos.

I am writing this letter, already being in Dnipro. Next week, myself, Andrey Krasyuk and Yuri Atanasov are planning work in Nikopol with our team.

Despite the challenges we face, Centravis remains dedicated to upholding the highest standards of production and service. We assure you that we will continue to prioritize our commitments to you while maintaining a strong focus on quality and customer satisfaction.

We extend our heartfelt gratitude to every client and partner who continues to place their trust in us and recognizes us as a reliable partner.

Please, continue supporting us with your orders.

Sincerely,
