FROM: Artem Atanasov, Chief Sales Officer, Centravis

Our dear clients, partners and friends,

This week, a devastating tragedy unfolded before the eyes of the Ukrainian people. In the dark hours of June 6, the dam of the Kakhovka hydroelectric plant in the Kherson region was ruthlessly destroyed by Russian invaders. This appalling act of terrorism sent shockwaves not only through Ukraine, but also throughout the civilized world.

The consequences of this dam's destruction are dire, posing a significant threat to Ukraine's environment and causing a potential shortage of drinking water in certain southern regions. In response to this crisis, the entire population of Ukraine, as well as neighboring countries, have united to extend their support to the affected residents and animals within the disaster zone.

While we are grateful that Nikopol situated far from the Kakhovskaya dam upstream of the Dnieper River, remains unaffected by the risk of flooding or water shortage, we understand the gravity of the situation and stand in solidarity with our fellow citizens.

Meanwhile, Centravis production is operating at full capacity, ensuring the seamless functioning of our Hot and Cold Shops in Nikopol and our production site in Uzhgorod. All our equipment is operating optimally, thanks to the dedication of our team.

Our logistics team has been working tirelessly to ensure the secure and efficient delivery of our finished products. Our global sales offices continue to remain open and accessible, ready to address any inquiries or requests you may have. Our Financial and Administrative Departments, along with our Customer Support teams, are fully operational and ready to provide assistance whenever needed.

It is noteworthy that our CEO, Yuriy Atanasov, and Production Director, Andriy Krasjuk, are currently in Ukraine, actively engaging in their roles in Nikopol.

We would like to express our sincere gratitude to all our partners and clients who have stood by us during these challenging circumstances. Your unwavering support serves as a testament to the trust and confidence you place in us as reliable partners.

Glory to Ukraine!

Sincerely,
